Over 70 persons attended the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening, May 1, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. The program featured a slide presentation by Greenwood Historical Society member Blaine Mills of Locke Mills. Mr. Mills has been copying old photographs relating to Greenwood for the past year and assembled a highly diverse collection relating to the town's history. The audience was provided with revealing glimpses of Greenwood's people, schools, mills, homes, and vistas through the years. The effects of change, the advance of technology and the impact of changing fashions were made dramatically clear by the speaker's presentation.

During the business portion of the meeting, Margaret Joy Tibbitts presented a report on the continued on Page Five

S. A. D. 44 Meeting Approves FY '81 Budget Monday

Over 100 voters of M. S. A. D. #44 were in attendance at the Telstar Auditorium on Monday evening of this week as the District's annual budget meeting was held. Those present approved a gross budget for fiscal year 1981 that provides for expenditures of $2,566,554. A net amount (local share) of $1,147,911.10 will be assessed to the district's member towns as follows:

Andover $198,611.22
Bethel 422,656.85
Greenwood 199,990.14
Newry 100,358.72
Woodstock 235,039.17

Extended discussion occurred during consideration of the article concerning appropriation of local money without state participation. An attempt to cut $50,000 from the recommended $271,803.60 was defeated. The amount recommended was approved. Most of the discussion was engendered by the directors' action on Feb. 25 that permitted the acquisition of a computer, and a down payment to be paid from FY '80 funds.

In other action the voters approved the NOVA budget as approved by the Cooperative Board ($232,804), the S. A. D. #44 share of $41,842.31 is included in the FY '81 gross budget. Also approved was the NOVA Adult Education budget in the amount of $6,000 (no S. A. D. #44 appropriation is required in FY '81).

The S. A. D. #44 Adult Education gross budget of $20,920 was approved, with $8,745 to be raised locally.

The board of directors received authorization to make application for, accept, and expend on behalf of the district all gifts, advances, grants in aid or other funds for educational purposes as may now

BETHEL POPPY DAYS MAY 16 AND 17

Poppy Days in Bethel will be observed on Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17, according to a proclamation issued early this week by Town Manager Norman R. Ness Jr. Mundt-Allen American Legion Auxiliary will be sponsoring the annual sale of veteran made poppies and will be aided by volunteers, including Cub Scouts and Little Miss Poppy 1980.

Chosen this year as Miss Poppy was Miss Darcy Moffett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Moffett. She is a kindergarten pupil at Ethel Bisbee School, daughter of a veteran, and granddaughter of two veterans. Her father served as Airman third class in the United States Air Force. Her grandfathers (S/Sgt.) Ferrol P. Witter, Bethel, and (Buck Sgt.) William Moffett, Norway, both served during World War II.

The little red flowers, designed to resemble the poppies growing in Flanders Field, France, are made by disabled veterans and proceeds from this sale are used to aid veterans and their families. Support the American Legion and Auxiliary in their efforts to care for ill and disabled veterans and wear a poppy in remembrance of their fallen comrades, during Poppy Days, May 16 and 17.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Once more it is May and Mother's Day. The idea of Mother's Day was born in a Methodist Sunday School in Grafton, W. Va., at a time when the nation was still mourning those who had died in the Civil War.

Mrs. Anna Reeves Jarvis, mother of 11 children, was teaching a Memorial Day lesson and spoke tenderly and sadly of those who gave their lives. She then said, "You notice I did not discuss a Memorial Day for the mothers who gave their sons. There is no such day." And she concluded with a prayer "That somewhere, sometime, someone will found a Mother's Day Memorial recognizing the mothers of America and the world."

This prayer made an impression on Anna, Mrs. Jarvis' 12 year old daughter. She never forgot it; and when her mother died in 1905, she promised that she would be the "someone" to found Mothers Day.

Mrs. Jarvis had served her church 25 years. When she died at 72, the church bell tolled 72 times. It was on that day that her daughter determined to establish the Mother's Day Mrs. Jarvis had prayed for many years before.

She started work immediately on her project.

At her request, the minister of the Methodist church prepared services for mothers and the first Mother's Day was held May 12, 1907, the second Sunday in the month. It was accepted with enthusiasm and favorable newspaper comments.

The following year there was another.

To explain and promote Mother's Day, Miss Jarvis chose the motto, "To honor the best mother who ever lived—your mother."

Next she selected a flower—the carnation—as the emblem.

Mother's Day was observed as a special church day in 1912 and was climaxed on May 8, 1914, when President Wilson designated the second Sunday in May as the annual Mother's Day "for displaying the American flag and for the public expression of love and reverence for mothers of the country."

Today, 66 years later Mother's Day follows closely the pattern which she set. Mothers receive flowers and gifts, are visited, telephoned, and generally remembered by her children. For just one day we wear a flower for her. One day is not enough. We should wear one every day. Although not visible to the eye, it can be planted deep in our hearts.

My mother drifted to the shore of eternity, when I was 12 years old. But each May brings back memories. She had brown wavy hair, gray-blue eyes, and a patient nature. It was she who taught me to see beauty in common place things such as a plucky mule deer stalk, growing by a fence, a spider web silvery by morning dew, and winter trees against the mauve of the evening sunset.

She was fond of lilacs and wild asters. She liked the early spring, purple violets, pansies and old fashioned yellow roses. She liked the many birds which came to our surroundings.

She worked hard, as most women of that time did, making jelly, canning fruits and vegetables.

I remember her as brave, hopeful and patient and spending much time with her children.

When she left us, something fine and wonderful went out of our lives.

"Of all the lovely things God made There's one above all others He took the best from all things And made them into 'Mothers.'"

On Tuesday Club Eight went to Yarmouth where they enjoyed a pot luck dinner at the home of Evelyn Tamminen. All were there except Helen Chojnacki.

I attended the Delta Kappa Gamma meeting at the Moses Mason House in Bethel on Saturday. I went with Ruth Hastings and Lettie Brooks.

Ann Holt, Bethel, visited her parents here on Sunday.

Helen Chojnacki will enter Maine Medical Center on Monday, May 5, for tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hayes, Auburn, were at the Hayes Home- stead on Saturday. Rolly and Doris Hayes spent the day Sunday with son, Glenn and family in Gray.

Esther Davis had a well drilled in the field opposite her house. The Page outfit did the work.

I had a letter from Edith Bryant. Her address is Squire Hill Valley, Apt. 3G, Winthrop, Maine 04364. If any one likes to write to her I'm sure she would be glad to hear from her friends.

Northwest Bethel

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —

What a beautiful Saturday! The weather was made to order and as the mosquitoes and flies aren't out yet was perfect for outdoor barbecues. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy were among those who took advantage of the day, with a barbecue. We had to take our son, Ira, to Portland to catch a jet for Memphis, Tenn. He had been told that he would be getting at least two weeks and maybe longer on recruiting duty; but Friday was told—no.

This week Senator Muskie, as everyone knows, was appointed Secretary of State. This brought to mind a time 20 odd years ago when we were living in North Woodstock. We were living in the old hotel right across from the Common. Three of us women were sitting on the porch with our children—all under a year old—and Muskie was campaigning in Waterford. He came over and asked if he could have his picture taken with us and our babies, and we said "yes." There was an empty chair beside me so he sat down. Just as they snapped the picture, Jim, our son, reached out and grabbed the Senator's nose. Apparently the cameraman didn't realize this as we were told it would be in the papers that week. Needless to say the picture was never printed.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bills, who have purchased the old Wilson place, have got it all primed, ready to paint and have been getting the field ready to see these and other buildings restored.

Gerry Shimamura left Friday afternoon and came home late Saturday from a ladies retreat in Lovell. This was held at Rudy Vallee's old camp. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayward were visiting at Shimamura's when Gerry got home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith and two children of South Paris, visited Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith and Andy, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters went to Lewiston Thursday to the eye doctors.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, Sheri, Kristy and Timmy, went up to Dick's uncle John Angevine's and family, in Colebrook, N. H.

The Assessors have completed the valuation of taxable property, and are ready to set the tax rate and compute the taxes as soon as they receive the figures on the School Assessment. The M. S. A. D. #44 District Budget Meeting was held on May 5. The total valuation for 1980 is $8,391,800. An additional $1,275,212 in valuation was lost under the Tree Growth Tax Law, and there is $113,850 in tax exempt property. The 1980 tax rate has been estimated at between 13 and 14 mills. The valuation is broken down as follows: Resident Real Estate, $3,013,100; Non-Resident Real Estate, $4,901,550; Total Real Estate, $7,914,650. Resident Personal Estate, $340,700; Total Taxable Personal Estate, $477,150. Total Value Land, $2,677,300. Value Buildings, $5,237,350. The assessment ratio is 100%.

There are 26,367 acres under tree growth, assessed at $834,147.90. If not under Tree Growth, this would have been assessed at $2,109,360. Actual loss in taxes to the Town of Newry for 1979 was $15,087.60. Of this amount $5,679.91 was to be reimbursed by the State. In December, the Town received from the State $2,907.41 for Tree Growth Reimbursement, based on 11 cents per acre for land under Tree Growth, with the balance of $2,672.50 to be reimbursed in 1980. However, since sufficient funds were not available to pay the entire amount, the Special Session of the Legislature passed a Resolve that 85.5% of this amount would be reimbursed, or $2,284.99. This will mean an additional loss to the Town of $387.52 under Tree Growth. Stow Selectmen are fighting the Tree Growth, and Newry Selectman, Roger E. Hanscom said he felt that other municipalities with high woodland acreage should join the fight and try to get this law repealed. Hanscom said he felt this law was unfair, especially to low income home owners who must pay a higher tax to offset the loss under Tree Growth. In 1979, Newry taxpayers not under Tree Growth paid an additional tax of $1.80 per thousand of assessed valuation because of the Tree Growth Tax Law. Hanscom said that he felt this law should either be repealed, or amended to work similar to the Elderly Persons Tax Relief Law. The woodland owner would pay the full tax to the municipality, then file a claim with the State for reimbursement. The reimbursement would be financed by a tax on wood and lumber cut on land under Tree Growth. It has been estimated that this tax could be as low as five or ten cents per cord on wood harvested. Hanscom said that he did not feel that the M.M.A. had done as much as they should to assist municipalities in fighting Tree Growth, and that unless they did more, municipalities should withhold their M.M.A. dues. He said he felt that a drive for a referendum might be started to force repeal or change in this law.

Starting out on life's proud highway, And again when his fortune he's carving out, Little by little each day, And when with his work he is vain; His new friends beguile him in vain; For he turns as he did in boyhood's days, To home and mother again. I see him again in his manhood's prime; Fame, Fortune are both his own. He is reaping at last the fruits of his toil, The harvest his hand has sown. But even in the press of his busy life, When harassed by toil or care, His steps turn back to the dear old home, Where his mother awaits him there. And so with us all, when wearied and worn With pleasure or work or grief, We long for home our faithful friends, And there we find sweet relief And when worn out with the life work here, We go, but oh! Not alone; But dwell with our Master in peace and joy, And hear from His lips, "Well done."

"WALK-THRU, APPALACHIAN TRAIL" COMING MAY 17-18

The ducks and geese and the yellow ditches will be there. So will the Dutchman's Butches. And violets and some early rhododendrons and fiddle-leaf ferns. The sun will shine and there will be rainbows and clear blue skies and cloud covers. And it will be winter, spring and summer in a single week end.

Sound like a nice place to be? "Well, get out your hiking boots or even your sneakers, and join us," says Ed Garvey, coordinator for the May 17-18 "Walk-Thru on the Appalachian Trail."

Garvey's been there many times before, having hiked all 2,106 miles of the Trail from Maine to Georgia and written several books about it. He's a member of the volunteer Board of Managers of the Appalachian Trail Conference, the non-profit educational organization which coordinates many Trail activities from Happers Ferry, W. Va.

"All you have to do to participate is to be somewhere on the Appalachian Trail for part or all of the week end. And don't worry about getting crowded. There's plenty of room—more than 2,000 miles of it!" Garvey adds.

The Appalachian Trail Conference decided to sponsor its first Trail-wide walk-thru in history for several reasons. The month of May signals the start-up of the hiking season for most folks, although there are already many early birds out there. Throughout the summer months, countless thousands of Americans will be out on the Trail for a hike through Nature that may take a day, a week or even half a year.

"We want everyone to know about the Trail. It's there for all of us... and it's free," says Garvey. "Everyone's talking about doing more with less. Well, the A. T. provides the cheapest summer vacation I can think of!"

In conjunction with the "Walk-Thru" members and friends of the 63 clubs in the 14 states the Trail passes through will be taking a "spring inventory" of sorts. These club members, who volunteer countless hours of time to maintain the Trail in their areas, will be participating in a working way—clearing brush, making barriers to erosion and freshening blazes with new paint. At the end of the week end, the longest marked footpath in the world will be brighter and cleaner for their efforts.

Anyone interested in participating in this aspect of the "Walk-Thru" can contact their local Appalachian Trail hiking or outing club for further details.

Another reason for the "Walk-Thru" is "to celebrate what has become a most unique example of cooperation between the private and public sectors," according to Hank Lautz, ATC executive director. "From Maine to Georgia there are large numbers of private citizens who volunteer their time to maintain and preserve the Trail. And, in each area, government representatives on local, state and federal levels are working with them, side by side, to make a common dream come true."

The "dream" is, of course, preservation of the Appalachian Trail for future generations of Americans to enjoy as a natural resource, a recreation area close to the backyards of more than one third of the population of the United States.

The Appalachian Trail began with a dream—the vision of forester Benton MacKaye back in the 1920's. The idea caught on and from Maine to Georgia, many people joined in carving out a foot path to follow the Appalachian Mountain Range. The Trail was initially completed in 1937 but the route remains an ever-changing process.

In the last 20 years particularly, urban sprawl has resulted in the gradual encroachment and destruction of the natural resources throughout the range of the Trail. Efforts are being made constantly to route the Trail off private lands and into public lands which will not only insure stability of the route but, hopefully, preserve a wooded or pastoral corridor as well. To that end, the U. S. Congress has pledged funding for such land acquisitions.

The Appalachian Trail Conference, which represents the 63 clubs active in Trail maintenance and more than 15,000 individual members, is committed to this goal. And, since, 1968 when the

FORESTRY COURSE OFFERED AT GOULD ACADEMY

Gould Academy Science Department chairman, Donald E. Feeney, has reintroduced forestry, a three term course designed to meet the future trends in energy and environmental awareness. In the early '60's Gould served as the local high school for Bethel and was also a private, coeducational, boarding school. A forestry course was offered at that time to take advantage of Gould's 500 acres of woodlots and to give students vocational experience in the area's wood related industries. When Gould became primarily a boarding school and Telstar Regional High School was opened, the Forestry Program was dropped.

Now, in response to the energy crisis, alternative energy source development, and an interest on the part of both students and Mr. Feeney, forestry was added to the curriculum in the fall of 1978. Mr. Feeney states that since more than 40% of our nation's commercially valuable timber is on small, privately owned woodlots, it becomes necessary for more and more potential landowners and the general public to learn about wood, the wood industry and forest ecology.

During the three terms, both theoretical and practical experiences in small woodlot management are emphasized, with students doing the majority of their field work on the Academy's tree farm. Some of the topics covered in the course include the role of forestry, past and present, tree identification, measurements in forestry, tree diseases, insect pests, forest growth and culture, wood technology, economics including sales, contracts and marketing, wood harvesting, wood manufacturing, forest ecology, survey and mapping, wildlife management, and fire control.

Special projects instituted in this year's course include thinning and pruning four acres of white pine, pruning and other work on the Gould campus's ornamental trees, and a chain saw training program which includes tree felling, limbing and bucking. Also included were visits to local wood mills and to commercial cutting operations on nearby woodlots.

The success of the program is evident from the increased enrollment, and the fact that two students who took the course last year went on to forestry schools at the college level. The future also looks bright as Gould turns increasingly toward using its wood resources as a fuel to heat its physical plant. It is hoped to add to the equipment already available so that the course will be able to carry on its own complete woods operations.

Barbara Lemay's twin sister is visiting her from Massachusetts for a couple weeks.

Spring rummage sale is May 16, 17, nine to two at the church vestry.

A good crowd, around 60, out to church Sunday. Fine sermon and choir.

Trail received distinction as the country's first National Scenic Trail, federal agencies such as the National Park Service and the U. S. Forest Service have similarly taken on that commitment.

"This cooperative effort we are experiencing, from all segments is almost as exciting as the trail itself," Lautz says. "The real backbone of the trail is the volunteer community... they started the whole thing and now they are taking the lead in setting an example of how the private and public sectors can work together for the common good of all."

Dr. Richard W. Haupt, Assistant Vice President, Preservation Services, National Trust for Historic Preservation, Washington, D. C. recently announced that Stanley R. Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society/Dr. Moses Mason Museum in Bethel has been selected for the 22nd Annual Seminar for Historical Administration in Williamsburg, Va. Howe will be one of eighteen administrators of historical agencies participating in the seminar, May 31 to June 28.

This tuition-free seminar, first held in 1959, is the preeminent short course available in the historical agency administration. More than 275 of its graduates currently hold leadership positions in historical administration.

The four-week seminar is intended to provide an intensive overview of administration for staff members already employed in private and public historical societies, museums, restoration and preservation projects, historic sites and parks. Seminar participants are introduced to the full range of knowledge and practice needed for the successful administration of historical and preservation agency programs. To qualify, applicants should have at least one year of graduate training in American history, art or architectural history or allied fields.

Seminar sessions will be conducted by nationally recognized authorities with assistance from the sponsoring organizations, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, American Association for State and Local History and the American Association of Museums supported by funds from the National Museum Act.

Howe will live on the campus of the College of William and Mary and participate in seminars on care and management of collections, interpretation, money management, membership recruitment, use of volunteers, marketing techniques for the cultural agency, and historical publications. This year there will be three field trips: Mariners Museum, Newport News, Va., Richmond, Va., and Yorktown.

Howe, who has been affiliated with the Moses Mason Museum since it opened in 1974, is a native of Bethel and a graduate of Gould Academy and the University of Southern Maine. He received an M.A. in American History from the University of Connecticut and a Ph.D. in Canadian Studies from the University of Maine at Orono. Active in community affairs (currently serving as an officer in some half dozen organizations as well as on the Bethel Board of Selectmen/Assessors), he is also a trustee of Maine Citizens for Historic Preservation and First Vice President, Maine Society, Sons of the American Revolution. A member of several professional organizations, he has taught at the University of Maine at the Orono, Augusta and Portland campuses.

West Parish Congregational Church of Bethel is sponsoring a workshop with the West Parish Congregational Church of West Paris on working with Older Persons on Saturday, May 10, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Lodgeview Memorial Home. Tom Caton, or Jane or Jim Chandler for this workshop.

SENATOR WILLIAM COHEN From Washington

President Carter's nomination of Ed Muskie to succeed Cyrus Vance as Secretary of State was proud news for the State of Maine, and I believe, heartening news for the nation. In Senator Muskie's new role as Secretary of State, Americans everywhere will come to know the man Maine people have had the good fortune to have as an elected leader for 25 years.

Ed Muskie is uniquely qualified for service to his country. He has enjoyed a long and distinguished public career, characterized by high principles and commitment to the national interest. He will bring to the State Department a well-known voice often heard and heeded by the world's leaders.

In serving Maine with Ed, I have been privileged to have his friendship and benefit from his maturity and wisdom. He will assume his position as Secretary of State with the same outlook with which he has worked for 22 years in the Senate. The tasks before him are great and sobering, but, as in the past, Ed Muskie has displayed a spirit and confidence equal to every task he has confronted.

Senator Muskie will receive my full support in confirmation hearings before the Senate.

Maine's Highway Funds

On April 1, the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) imposed a nationwide freeze on funds available to the 50 states.

Nationwide, highway funds were cut by 13%, but because of the way available funds were divided among the states, Maine's funds were cut by 46%. At the time of the freeze, Maine had obligated only 20% of its funds, principally because the weather in the state allows only a short construction season. As is usual, Maine planned a heavy construction and repair schedule for later in the fiscal year.

If Maine cannot retrieve some of this money, needed repairs will be postponed, projects will be left partially completed, and Maine's construction industry could suffer heavy financial losses.

I have brought this situation to the attention of the Secretary of Transportation, Neil Goldschmidt, and have urged him to investigate the matter. I believe the FHWA can devise a fair allocation system for the remaining funds and avoid a disabling cut in funds available for Maine.

SACRED CONCERT AT BETHEL GOSPEL CENTER FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 9

Concert artists Richard and Joan Brust, representing Nyack College in Nyack, N. Y., will hold a sacred concert at Bethel Gospel Center of C. & M. A., Route 26, Bethel on Friday, May 9, 1980, 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Brust are graduates of Nyack College, where they both earned Bachelor of Sacred Music degrees. Mr. Brust subsequently earned a Master of Music degree from Manhattan School of Music and also Ithaca College and Southern Theological Seminary.

The Brusts have traveled extensively throughout North America presenting sacred concerts and singing at camp meetings and Bible conferences. They also have been the featured musicians at the General Council of The Christian and Missionary Alliance and have made several recordings.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Fantasy, Fantasy—can't say we read that in the Bible—but, guess Solomon came close to it—and, maybe he never saw such films as Star Trek, Star Wars and the film Earthquake. Very impressive—imagination put to flight by masters of illusion—model makers—computerized sophisticated optical effects—Hollywood's "make believe."

With a fertile imagination—let us consider the oil rich nation's shipping, free of charge—all the oil we need and Russia air freight all their gold to Israel. That's silly we say. Supposing we would believe God's Word—Hm, what remarkable things would happen!

Did you read Ezra? In the old Testament of course, first a king captures the people of Israel and brings them with all their possessions to his country—then a few kings later—King Cyrus of Persia, that's Iran now, "has his heart stirred by God" Ezra 1:1—and tells the Israelites, go back—furnishing them with transportation—gold, silver—anything and everything in abundance—plus a safe trip and unlimited help from Israel's enemies—all for their return to the "Promised Land" and the rebuilding of God's Temple.

One might say—that's impossible—that's right—but all things are possible by the Creator of our Universe—there are no such things as miracles—an act of God—maybe?

He causes and allows them to happen. The opposite to a miracle (glad happening) is a catastrophe—the difference between them—is letting Satan have his way or letting God do His will.

Miracles are being seen today—yes, here in Bethel—as people pray—believing Christ as when He said in Matt. 19:26—"with men this is impossible, but with God

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

As another Memorial Day is about to come upon us, I believe that it is up to all of us to stop and think just what the American flag and the Memorial Day speakers, and the whole celebration means to us, as Americans. As for me, if I do not have energy enough to stand up and respect the flag as it goes past, then I really do not have enough energy to be at the parade anyway.

So let's all try to show everyone that we do care about the American flag and show some respect. A very concerned person all things are possible." Our problem is in our walk in disbelief and the rejection of God in our lives. Individuals and this Nation of America must repent and turn to God. One wonders if it isn't too late for our Country before God interferes in the affairs of man—but no matter—there's still time to pray—through Christ mediator—for God's will in our lives—for us to put aside our pride—"I'll do it myself"—"my way"—and turn our lives over to the One who can give us peace and understanding.

America fits right into Ezra Chapter 9—Let us pray.

REP. SNOWE URGES SAVING OF REVENUE SHARING FUNDS

Rep. Olympia Snow, R-Maine, joined in floor debate on the 1981 budget last week, urging her colleagues to save revenue sharing funds for state governments by cutting categorical grants instead.

Categorical grants to states must be used for specific purposes indicated by the federal government, but revenue sharing funds can be spent as each state sees fit.

Snow reminded her colleagues that the National Governors' Association has expressed willingness to accept cutbacks in federal grants as long as federal imposed spending restrictions are removed.

"I think that the revenue sharing program has worked well in the past and it certainly will in the future," she said.

If the state share of the revenue sharing program is cut out, she said, "we are just going to transfer burdens" to local governments, because so many states, like Maine, pass revenue sharing funds through to cities and towns.

The local governments which stop getting that aid "are going to have to assume that burden and increase property taxes as a result," she said.

The Carter Administration recently announced plans to cut all state revenue sharing, a move that would cost Maine $15.6 million.

That amount has been pumped into the teachers' retirement fund, and, if it is cut off, the retirement fund may have to be fueled by local tax revenues.

Under the administration plan the approximately $31 million in revenue sharing to local governments in Maine would remain intact, and for each of the next two years, Maine municipalities would share a supplemental fund of $1.4 million.

Debate on the 1981 budget was expected to continue this week.

NOTES FROM
Evans Notch

White Mountain National Forest

The fine weather of last week end brought out trout fishermen, hikers, and early season campers. State Highway #113, Evans Notch Road, is free of snow and open the earliest in many a year. The Young Adult Conservation Corps crews and Older American crews are working in the Gilead Picnic Area and campgrounds at Wild River, Hastings, Crocker Pond, Cold River and Basin. District campgrounds will open officially May 15. Campers are reminded that camping is permitted only in designated campgrounds and areas outside of the restricted use area along the Wild River Road. Campground Hosts are needed in two campgrounds for the upcoming summer. For more information on the campground Host Program and for other information contact the District Ranger.

The Forest Land Management Planning process continues. April 18 marked the cut-off date for receiving responses from the public concerning the identification of issues. Approximately 600 written responses were received. Some examples of issues identified were: the role of the National Forests in producing alternate forms of energy, the extent of wilderness, future timber supply with respect to inflation, and many others. If you are interested in becoming involved in this process, please visit the office on Bridge Street.

District crews are now working a four-day work week. Summer office hours will be from 7:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. every day of the week from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

The YACC crew has completed its work at the airport and has been assisting the State Fish and Game Department with the stocking of fish in area trout streams. On bad weather days, the crew can generally be found at the Bog Brook Youth Conservation Corps camp working on the new facilities. The crews recently completed planting several thousand white pine on 30 acres.

On June 21 the District will be hosting a tour for the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine. The public is also invited to attend; however, reservations are requested.

1980 is the 75th Anniversary Year of the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. To help celebrate this anniversary year, the Forest Service is encouraging the planting of "Birthdays Trees" by people to celebrate their own special holidays. The Forest Service hopes the "Birthdays Tree" Campaign will revitalize the historic tradition of planting living memorials. In addition to planting on designated holidays like Arbor Day, however, the Forest Service invites people to mark the events of their lives as they happen by planting "Birthdays Trees".

Members of the Forest Service staff in Bethel will be visiting local grade schools to promote the planting of trees in conjunction with the "Birthdays Tree" Campaign and Arbor Day.

SUNDAY RIVER

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres.—
Sent in by Eva Yates:
It think it's a bit on the cloudy side this Tuesday morning but not certain as I was out late last night. So far the month of May is dry and cold. Some people have planted seeds but will they grow or freeze and rot? We left parsnips in the ground so as to have some nice fresh parsnips this spring only to find they all rotted in the ground so it's a case of wait a spell. We still have some we saved last fall and kept in the refrigerator. They are not rotten.

B. H. Yates with two other woodsmen were at a woods or logging school in Machias, two days last week.

Bear River Grange held its special open meeting May 3 at their hall and presented our postmaster with the Citizenship Award. Earl Paine, better known as Buddy, was really surprised and pleased. Too bad more of his co-workers did not attend. Why do people sometimes bite off their own nose to spite their own face? Can you tell me. We had a nice crowd and an excellent program. Another surprise the same evening was a birthday cake and singing Happy Birthday to Richard Felt. He was loudly singing Happy Birthday to himself and at the same time wondering who had a birthday.

Sunday afternoon the Yates and Peggy Blake attended a surprise baby shower for Lorene Billings at her mother's, Laura Hutchins, at East Andover. It was such a surprise it brought the tears. There were about 30 there and she had a lovely lot of gifts. Refreshments of all kinds were served.

Mrs. Michael Woolf, Mrs. Viva Whitman and Barbara Yates attended the baby shower for Lorene Billings Sunday.

Peggy Blake did some upholstery for Myrna Carter last week.

Eva Yates and Peggy Blake were in Rumford, April 30, on business and had dinner at Goodwin's.

The next regular meeting at Bear River will be May 10. A regular meeting preceded by a 6:30 pot luck supper. Any Granger welcome to supper and to the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Yates were in Jackman the first of the week on business.

Margaret Mitchell entertained her brother and wife, Walter and Felicia of Westbrook, her sister Ethel, her husband and son, and friends, Louis and Lorraine, this week.

Roland and I stopped a few miles from home Sunday to watch a bear cub about the size of a bobcat. The bear was in the road and ambled up over a side hill. Neither of us had seen one of such small size previously.

The Godfries are having a septic system put in and some changes on their plumbing.

Nelson Douglass is putting a new porch on his mother's house. The Largesse family burned the fields next to their home and the fire got away from them into the woods. It was put under control before a great deal of damage was done.

Week end company at Heritage Farm included the Lou Berniers and Mike, Joe Berniers, Andre Berniers, Mike and Nancy Antonelli, Ken Fysh and friends and several townspeople.

Brad Barrett has been checking on tractors and chain saws for safety rules.

The six point Grange meeting at Franklin Grange, May 5, sure was a success. Several Granges were represented and an excellent program with lots of music was enjoyed as well as some dancing after the program. We just must not forget the elegant supper before the meeting—food for an army and all delicious. Oh yes, and Brother Harris Hathaway came in his brand new dark maroon automobile. He really stood two inches taller than usual and we don't blame him. Good for you Harris.

When we had arrived in Guadalupe we checked into the Sheridan Hotel at 6 p. m. The next day we did some shopping. We visited also the Dellago Theater where we watched the company rehearse a little while before going on to visit the Cathedral and museum. Then we went on to Ajijic to watch the natives make yarn and weave cloth as well as lacquer dishes, and to woodwork. There the streets were on terraces, so no car or bus could get to each level. So we walked up lots of steps to see each craftsman's shop.

More about our tour across Mexico—On the way to Guadalajara we stopped at the Church of the Virgin in San Juan de Los Lagos—a very beautiful one, with lots of gold leaf on columns, ceiling and altar. There was a hall which had the walls and the hallway covered with pictures, booties, miniature arms, legs, eyes, toy dresses, paintings which were thank you offerings for the Blessed Virgin for her help to all the ones who left these things... So we walked up lots of steps to see each craftsman's shop.

On the way to Patzcuaro we visited Morelia which has a very long aqueduct. Around Morelia and Zaramo there is much agriculture—in fact Zaramo is noted for the many acres of strawberries raised there. We could see the ripe strawberries as we rode by. One thing in Mexico there weren't many fences so animals would be seen along the road or crossing them. Many bands of sheep and goats were in open fields with a man or boy watching them. Roadsides from Guadalajara to Patzcuaro had lots of litter on them.

Another thing we noticed along the road were crosses with stones piled around them. Our guide told us that whenever they had an accident, a stone was added to the pile around the cross. Some had heaps of stones about them. Patzcuaro was a very cool place—it claimed to have low temperatures even in summer—not more than 69°. At least we had heat in our rooms for the night. Several of us changed rooms as the other rooms were so damp and cold. Second time around we all got better rooms.

At Patzcuaro we went on a boat ride across Lake Patzcuaro to visit the island of Janitzio. The Tarascan Indians live here. They have their own language and rarely leave the island. The Indians came out and showed us how they used their butterfly nets to catch the white fish which are delicious. The Indians fish at night so what they showed us was just how they caught the fish. Then they came around our boat to get money for showing us. On the island the Indians have a small cemetery and on Nov. 1 and 2 they all gather for a fiesta there. On the first they honor the older people and on the second they honor the young people. It was all very interesting although most of the children there had colds and had poor clothing, as the Indians are a very poor tribe. Patzcuaro is 6,700 feet above sea level which accounts for the cool weather. On the way to Ixtapa we stopped in Uruapan to visit the state park of Michoacan. The park is very large and beautiful. It has many, many waterfalls, beautiful flowers and lots of paths to follow as well as places to swim and wash clothes as many women were doing when we were there. In most of the towns we visited most of the washing of clothes was done in the rivers and streams.

After a seven hour ride with no stops we reached Ixtapa where we stayed overnight. We had a lovely room there. The next day we went to Acapulco which is on the Pacific Ocean. That is really a beautiful place to stay and live, too. It was very warm and had beautiful streets. Next to our hotel there was a navy base so we heard the guns at morning and afternoon from there. I think it must have been a repair base as there didn't seem to be very many ships there. We enjoyed a leisurely day there before leaving for Guadalajara where we went through customs which was no problem—just turn in your tourist card. And so back to Long Beach.

On Friday, May 2, another old house and landmark in town was demolished and hauled to the dump to be burned. The former Chandler York house was gutted by fire last winter while the Jackson family lived there. The house was situated on the corner lot of Main and Newton Streets. Stan Morse recently purchased it and was involved along with David Smith Jr. woods crew in the demolishing operation. How quickly a house can be demolished, when one thinks of the hours of labor put in to build one, not to mention the expense.

Mrs. Frances Nevel and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Palmer left for Nahamant Lake Camps for the season on Wednesday.

Now that the weather is getting warmer so they don't need any heat in the club house "The Back Street Lawn and Garden Club" will be holding their first meeting of the season. Will keep you informed of the topics under consideration for discussion on the dates.

BREAST CANCER WORKSHOP

Kathie Tremblay, R. N., of the Bethel Area Health Center conducts a workshop on breast self examination Wednesday evening, April 30, at Telstar Regional High School. About 35 local women attended the two-hour session, which included a film from the American Cancer Society, a tape on mammography and demonstrations on plastic models. The workshop was repeated Thursday afternoon at the United Methodist Church.

The day's activities will close with a square dance beginning at 8 p. m. in the Town Hall put on by the Mollokett Mixers with Terry Campbell of Farmington the caller.

Now I have another opportunity for service.

Let me make it clear that I am not saying goodbye. Maine is not simply where I live. My roots are here. My values were nurtured here. So were sense of patriotism and my understanding of our political system and its possibilities. I could never leave Maine in any meaningful sense. I am not from Maine, but of Maine.

Elective office, at whatever level, is not a job. It is a trust. The people of Maine have allowed me to hold that trust longer than most. It was never mine to keep. Now the responsibility, the challenge and the opportunity will pass on to another. Gov. Brennan will appoint a successor who will serve the balance of my term in the Senate. Whomever Joe chooses will need all your help in adjusting to his or her new responsibilities and assuming the job of senator from Maine.

In 1982, the people will formally decide for themselves who their next Senator from Maine will be. I will do all I can to make certain the transition is swift and orderly. These are important days in Washington. I know Maine will be well-represented.

My own feelings are mixed. I sought elective office in Maine because I saw things in government I wanted to change. That is never over, and I still have a head full of ideas for change. I sought election because I believed Maine people needed more opportunities to fulfill their dreams and ambitions. That job is never over. I sought election because I believed the political process is our best tool for change, judging from the interest in Maine's Presidential caucuses and in primaries nationwide, Americans are apparently coming to share that belief again. And that is most encouraging news to some one who has made politics a career.

So I leave elective office with many tasks undone. The Senate is an exciting, frustrating, challenging and enormously enjoyable place to work. I consider myself a very lucky man to have maintained the trust of Maine people long enough to allow me 20 years in that institution. I hope I leave it a better place.

Mrs. Marjorie Menzies, North Billerica, Mass., spent several days last week visiting relatives in town.
